ABOUT US

Welcome to the world of Lio Collection. Based in Bali, Indonesia, we offer a wide assortment of beautiful furniture and interior products, catering to both retailers and wholesalers.

Mahogany – mix and match places Indonesian mahogany at the center stage. Its classy texture and color makes it ideal for antique reproduction, and our collection perfectly illustrates this potential, while simultaneously showcasing the versatility of the wood. Characteristics of Mahogany

Color

Mahogany has a deep reddish-brown color, which deepens over time, developing a rich, warm tone. The grain is usually straight, though it can sometimes have a wavy or curly texture that adds visual interest.

Grain Pattern

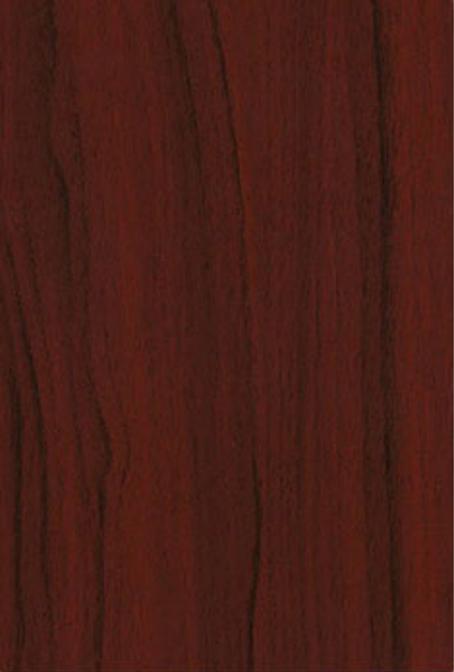

Mahogany is known for its fine and straight grain, giving it a smooth, consistent appearance.

Durability

Mahogany is a hardwood that is dense and strong. It's highly resistant to rot and decay.

Workability

Mahogany is easy to work with. It can be smoothly planed, shaped, and polished. It holds screws and nails well and is ideal for carving and turning.

Finish

The wood accepts stains and finishes well, with a natural luster that enhances the beauty of the grain. It can be finished to a high shine or left with a more matte appearance depending on preference.

Weight

Mahogany is relatively heavy, adding stability and weight to furniture and structures.

Sustainability

Some species of mahogany are endangered, so sustainable sourcing is important. Mahogany from managed forests or certified sources is more eco-friendly.

How to Treat Mahogany for Outdoor Use

Cleaning and Preparation

Remove dirt, dust, and grease using a mild soap and water solution. Rinse thoroughly and let the wood dry completely.

Apply a Wood Preservative

Use a wood preservative to protect against rot, fungi, and insects. Ensure the product is designed for hardwoods and outdoor use.

Seal the Wood

Choose a clear or tinted sealer that enhances the wood's natural grain while providing protection against moisture.

Regular Maintenance

Reapply oil or sealant annually or as needed, depending on exposure to the elements.

Position and Cover

Place furniture in shaded areas when possible to minimize direct sunlight exposure. Use weather-resistant covers when furniture is not in use to protect against rain and excessive moisture.
